Remodeling was necessary on this 1100 sq. ft. ranch before it could be inhabited back in 1989. With well planned execution and thoughtful consideration the house was transformed to an open floor plan perfect for entertaining. As the years went by a warm and inviting sunroom, guest quarters, and a garden room were added over rear garages. Attention to detail is apparent in the projects, expansions, and upgrades that have taken place in this circa 1958 home. The result is 3600 sq. ft. of unique and creative dwelling for any family. The project is full of innovative ideas that will be a delight and inspiration to all. Horses grazed in a pasture across the road when the owners took possession of this residence, they are now excited to be neighbors of the Lakeside Hospital complex and all it has to offer.
